Guidelines for Contributors to AJOT

Note. The Guidelines for Contributors is also available at the American Journal of Occupational Therapy manuscript processing system Web site; go to http://ajot.submit2aota.org and click on “Instructions for Authors.”

The American Journal of Occupational Therapy (AJOT) is the official peer-reviewed journal of the American Occupational Therapy Association (AOTA). We welcome the submission of manuscripts that are relevant to the study of occupation and the practice of occupational therapy. Categories of peer-reviewed articles include feature-length articles, case reports, brief reports, and issue papers.

Publication goals include the following:

- Effectiveness studies (outcome studies), systematic reviews, and meta-analyses
- Efficiency studies (studies assessing interventions for such things as patient satisfaction or cost and time efficiency)
- Studies establishing the reliability and validity of occupational therapy instruments
- Studies linking occupational engagement to participation and health
- Studies exploring a currently debated topical or professional issue (The Issue Is articles)

To submit manuscripts, go to http://ajot.submit2aota.org/ and follow the online instructions.

Manuscripts must be submitted with the authors’ explicit written assurance that the manuscript is not simultaneously under consideration by any other publication. The journal cannot assume responsibility for the loss of manuscripts.

Authors’ Responsibilities

Signatures. Before publication of any accepted manuscript, all authors must provide original signatures for the statement of authorship responsibility, the statement of financial disclosure, and the statement of copyright release. The Copyright Transfer/Author Certification/Financial Disclosure Form may be downloaded from the AJOT submission Web site. Signed forms must be submitted upon acceptance of a manuscript for publication.

The statement of authorship responsibility is certification that each author has made substantial contributions to (1) the study conception and design, acquisition of data, or analysis and interpretation of data; (2) the drafting and revision of the article; and (3) the approval of the final version. Moreover, each author takes public responsibility for the work.

Author order. The order of authors in the byline follows APA guidelines. The principal contributor appears first, and subsequent names are in order of decreasing contribution. Authors are encouraged to limit the number of coauthors to six or fewer.

Types of Articles

Feature-length article. Feature-length articles include (1) original research reports that focus on philosophical, theoretical, educational, or practice topics and (2) critical reviews (including meta-analyses) that offer systematic review and critical analysis of a body of literature as related to occupation and occupational therapy. Feature-length articles should include a section summarizing the implications of the research for occupational therapy practice; this section should include a bulleted list of the key points. (25 pages maximum or 5,000 words, including title page, abstract, acknowledgments, references, tables, figures, and illustrations)

Brief Report. A Brief Report is a short report of original research that is of a pilot or exploratory nature or that addresses a discrete research question and lacks broad implications. (15 pages maximum or 3,000 words, including title page, abstract, acknowledgments, references, tables, figures, and illustrations)

Case Report. A Case Report is a short report of original work that focuses on a case example of a clinical situation using baseline and outcome measures. The focus can be on a patient or client, a family, an institution, or any other defined unit. The case should represent elements of practice that are not already represented in the literature. (20 pages maximum or 4,000 words, including title page, abstract, acknowledgments, references, tables, figures, and illustrations)

The Issue Is. The Issue Is articles address timely issues, policies, or professional trends or express opinions that are supported by cogent argument from the literature. (18 pages maximum or 3,500 words, including title page, abstract, acknowledgments, references, tables, figures, and illustrations)

Letters to the Editor (published online). Letters discussing a recent AJOT article or other broad issue relative to the journal are welcome. Letters should not exceed 2 double-spaced typed pages and can be submitted by going to AJOT online at http://ajot.aotapress.net/, navigating to the article, and clicking on “submit a response.” Letters may be edited for length and to conform with AJOT editorial style.

Manuscripts for all categories above, except Letters to the Editor, are peer reviewed.
Note: Consistent with the Guidelines for Supervision, Roles, and Responsibilities During the Delivery of Occupational Therapy Services (AOTA, 2009), the roles of the occupational therapist and occupational therapy assistant shall be considered, and when appropriate, role distinctions shall be clarified.

Manuscript Preparation

For format and reference style, consult the APA style manual and recent issues of AJOT. Careful attention to style details will expedite the peer review process.

Authors are responsible for ensuring that a blind review process can take place by submitting a masked version of the manuscript, which contains no identifying information, including names and affiliations of all authors and acknowledgments. Unmasked articles will be returned for masking before they are reviewed. Authors of manuscripts that are accepted will be asked to provide an unmasked version.

Double-space the entire manuscript, including abstract, text, quotations, acknowledgments, tables, figure captions, and references. Leave 1-inch margins on all sides, and keep the right side unjustified. Number all pages, starting with the title page, and use line numbering in the text. Use only Times New Roman 12-point font. Manuscripts are compiled and converted to pdf format during the online submission process. Specific instructions are provided at http://ajot.submit2aota.org/.

Title page. The title should be short (no more than 10 words) and reflect the primary focus of the article. On the unmasked copy (which will be requested if the manuscript is accepted for publication), list full names, degrees, titles, and affiliations of all authors. Designate the corresponding author by providing his or her full address, telephone and fax numbers, and e-mail address.

Abstract and key words. An abstract of no more than 150 words and at least 3 MeSH key words are required for all articles. Abstracts may be structured (organized with the subheadings Objective, Method, Results, and Conclusion) or unstructured (narrative description of the focus and key content of the article). Note that MeSH keywords are reviewed by an indexer and may be edited.

Implications for Occupational Therapy Practice section. Feature-length articles, including evidence reviews, should include a separate section summarizing the implications of the research for occupational therapy practice. This section should consist of a short paragraph followed by a bulleted list of the practice implications.

Acknowledgments page. The acknowledgments page is included in the unmasked copy only. This page follows the last page of the text and precedes the reference list. Brief acknowledgments may include names of persons who contributed to the research or article but who are not authors (e.g., a statistician) followed by acknowledgments of grant support. Prior presentation of the paper at a meeting should be briefly described last.

References. Follow the 6th edition of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA, 2010) for referencing. List references in alphabetical order starting on the page after the last page of text (in the masked version) or after the acknowledgments (in the unmasked version). In-text citations should use author-date format. Personal communications or other nonretrievable citations are described in the text only; provide a name and date for a person and a name, date, and address for an organization. Authors are solely responsible for the accuracy and completeness of their references and for correct text citation.

Tables

Provide full titles and begin each table on a new page following the references. Number the tables consecutively.
as they appear in the text. Data appearing in tables should supplement, not duplicate, the text. Double-check column totals. Be sure that any numbers repeated in the text match the numbers that appear in the table. Define all abbreviations and explain any empty cells in a footnote to each table.

Figures and Illustrations

Number figures in order of mention in the text. Figures (including charts, diagrams, and photographs) must be submitted as high-resolution digitized electronic files (minimum 600 dpi). Figures must be submitted in black and white. Each figure should be uploaded to the BenchPress system as a separate file that is named in accordance with the figure number (e.g., “Figure 1.tif”).

Provide a caption for each figure. List all captions on one page, double-spaced. Place the figure caption page after the references. Provide source information for photographs and line art, and ensure that permission has been obtained to reprint figures that have previously been published or have not been created by the article authors (see “Permissions” below).

Note: Limit on Number of Tables and Figures

No more than four art elements—that is, any combination of tables and figures—may be submitted with each article. Authors who submit more than four items total will be asked to edit their submission accordingly. Authors who believe readers will benefit from additional tables or figures may submit those items as supplemental materials. Supplemental materials are not typeset and are placed, at the Editor-in-Chief’s discretion, with the online version of the article exactly as they are submitted.

Statistics

Authors must provide references for statistical tests used or described in the article. When reporting $F$ and $X^2$ statistics, provide degrees of freedom (df).

Tests and Assessment Tools

Authors must provide references for all tests and assessment tools mentioned in the article or used in the research being described, including tools mentioned in tables or lists of assessments. Tests and assessment tools listed in supplemental Evidence Tables, however, do not need to be referenced.

Abbreviations

Do not use abbreviations in the title or abstract of the article; the use of abbreviations in the text should be kept to a minimum.

Permissions

Authors who wish to reprint tables, figures, or long quotations from other sources are responsible for obtaining permission from the copyright holder. Letters of permission with original signatures from the copyright holder or an authorized representative must be submitted to the Editor at the time of the initial submission. AOTA does not reimburse authors for any expense incurred when obtaining permission to reprint. The need for permission applies to adapted tables and figures as well as to exact copies.

Signed statements of permission to publish must accompany all photographs of identifiable persons at the time of submission.

Authors must provide signed statements of permission from people cited for personal communications at the time of submission.

Derivative Work

Authors who are submitting derivative work using a data set from which other papers were published must provide the publication information for those other papers in the cover letter.

Manuscript Review

Manuscripts and reviews are confidential materials. The existence of a manuscript under review is not revealed to anyone beyond the editorial staff. All submitted manuscripts are initially reviewed by the Editor for suitability for the journal. Suitable manuscripts are then sent to editorial board members or guest reviewers for peer review. The identities of the reviewers and of the authors are kept confidential. Initial and subsequent review takes approximately 3 months. All accepted manuscripts are subject to copyediting. Authors will receive a copy of the edited manuscript for review and final approval, as well as reprint order forms, before publication. The authors assume final responsibility for the content of articles, including changes made in copyediting.

Copyright and Patent

On acceptance of the manuscript, authors are required to convey copyright ownership to AOTA. Manuscripts published in the journal are copyrighted by AOTA and may not be published elsewhere without permission. To obtain permission to reprint journal material, go to the Copyright Clearance Center Web site at www.copyright.com.

Any device, equipment, splint, or other item described with explicit directions for construction in an article submitted to AJOT for publication is not protected by AOTA copyright and can be produced for commercial purposes and patented by others, unless the item was already patented or its patent is pending at the time the article is submitted.

Checklist for Authors

- Submitted manuscript contains no identifying information about specific people and places.
All references are in APA (6th ed.) style and have been checked for accuracy and completeness and for exact match between list and text.

Lines are numbered in the main text.

A section including a bulleted list summarizing the implications of the research for occupational therapy practice is included.

Written permissions have been obtained as needed for photographs, personal communications, and copyrighted material.

Digital files and captions are provided for all figures.

All material is double-spaced (including abstract, references, quotations, figure captions).

The Copyright Transfer/Author Certification/Financial Disclosure Form has been signed by each author.
